

RPT 266: Seminar in Respiratory Medicine I

This course is a series of physician and/or guest lecturers designed to present topics of special interest to the student or practitioner. Emphasis is placed upon current medical practice within the field of pulmonary medicine and cardiology. Upon completion, the student should be able to demonstrate an increased knowledge base concerning the topics of special interest presented.

Credit Hours: 1

Lecture: 1

Lab: 0

Clinical/Practicum: 0

Credits: 1

Prerequisites:

RPT 230

RPT 233

RPT 234

RPT 241

RPT 242

Co-Requisites:

None