

Electronic Devices Policy

The use of technology on campus is intended to improve the learning environment for students and instructors. The College is committed to educationally sound uses of technology and to preventing technology from becoming disruptive to the learning environment. All electronic devices should be kept on silent while on campus, including common area, libraries, computers, labs, and cafeteria unless permission is given. It is the responsibility of the instructor to communicate with the student if, when, and what type of technology is allowed during class. Any technology that disrupts learning, promotes dishonesty, or is used to violate the student code of conduct is prohibited.
